HELLO

I'm Ashah.

I've been making things on screens since I was eleven, and I've never stopped. Music, fashion, film, the artists and brands that shaped who I am. I'm obsessed with how culture makes people feel, and I've built my life around creating that feeling on purpose.

MORE ABOUT ME →

Transmit the feeling of being fully alive, by opening doors and orchestrating the best in culture to create larger-than-life work.

THE MISSION

THE SKILL STACK

Four lights, one beam.

Shine four coloured lights through a prism the right way and they don't turn to mud. They become one brilliant beam: a world people can step into.

SETS THE VISION

Creative Direction

The North Star

Taste, worldbuilding and story decide what the world is, so every shoot, post and campaign is steered by the same light.

MAKES IT COHESIVE

Ecosystem Design

The living reef

Systems, templates and funnels that keep every touchpoint (feed, site, packaging, DMs, drops) unmistakably the same world.

OPENS THE ROOMS

Cultural Leadership

Fireflies in sync

The relationships, rooms and trust that bring artists, brands and community into the same rhythm.

MAKES IT IMPOSSIBLE TO MISS

Campaign Marketing

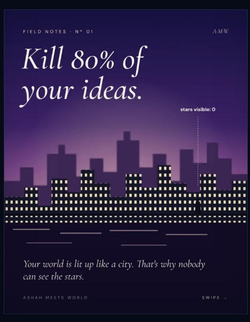

The meteor shower

Ubiquity and spectacle that turn a world into a moment, and a moment into attention, desire and sales.

ABOUT · ASHAH

Where the light crosses.

I'm Ashah Peters, a creative director and worldbuilder from Melbourne.

I've been making things on screens since I was eleven, and I've never stopped. Music, fashion, film, the artists and brands that shaped who I am. I'm obsessed with how culture makes people feel, and I've built my life around creating that feeling on purpose.

I'm still a student of the people I look up to, and I share what I learn as I go. If you're building something you believe in, I'd love to see it.

THE MISSION

My mission is to transmit the feeling of being fully alive, by opening doors and orchestrating the best in culture to create larger-than-life work.

MY JOURNEY

The story so far.

WONDER

The glow of a screen

It started in a bedroom, lit by a screen. A kid making videos and pulling worlds out of software, finding out you could build a feeling from nothing and send it out into the dark to see who'd feel it too.

DESIRE

The ones who built worlds

Then came the people who did it at full scale. Artists who turned an album into an era, designers who made a product feel like a belief, producers who could make a whole room go quiet. I didn't just want their work. I wanted to see the way they saw.

ENERGY

Trial, error, everything

Years of trying things. Experiments that went nowhere, detours that taught me something, late nights searching for the thing that was mine. Not a straight line. A long, restless search for direction.

POSSIBILITY

It could be me

I'd always known I was going to build something significant. Somewhere in the search I finally saw its shape: a world of city nights and open water, where the light crosses, and a way to build one for anyone ready to step inside.

COURAGE

No safety net

So I'm betting on it. On my vision, on what I can make, and on figuring out the rest as I go. No safety net, on purpose. This is the part where I lock in.

THE POSITIONING

The luminary.

A luminary is a light other people find their way by. That's the energy I bring into every room: a clear north star, high standards, and the kind of belief that lights the path for everyone around me.

I bring brands out of the dark and connect every touchpoint until people can see the whole constellation, then turn the launch into a moment that lights up the whole sky at once.

WHO IT'S FOR

Independent, founder-led labels with the craft already in place and demand starting to build. Melbourne first.

WHAT I MAKE

Brand worlds, drop concepts and rollouts, content systems, and artist × brand collaborations.

WHY ME

I build my own world in public first, so you can watch the playbook work in real time.

ROLE
Concept, art direction, copy, illustration, content system

The brief

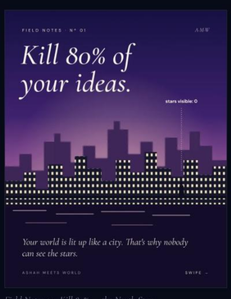

Make a content format that brings founders into the world — one that teaches something useful on every slide and still feels unmistakably like Ashah Meets World.

The system

Every carousel follows the same rules: stop → hold → payoff, a deliberate colour arc from first frame to last, one glowing focal point per slide, and every slide able to stand on its own. Each post takes one of four accent colours, one per skill.

The output

Fourteen carousels batched in a single production run, two weeks of posting, with a repeatable pipeline for stills, PDFs and animated versions.
